Defining the Context of Supervision:

What Is Supervision?

Components:

- A collaborative relationship that exists in which there is a power differential in that one individual is the evaluator and holds power
- Strength-based {identifying strengths of system, supervisees and supervisors}
- Developmental focus
- Informed Consent
- Agreement that highest duty of supervisor and supervisee is protection of and working in the best interests of the client
- Agreement and understanding of supervisory liability and that the supervisor makes the final decision with regard to welfare of the client
- Addressing previous supervision experiences, positive and negative
  - Identifying what worked for supervisee and what was NOT effective
- Competency-based
- Understanding of the definition of supervision, pillars, and superordinate values (Falender & Shafranske, 2004)

  DEFINITION: (Falender & Shafranske, 2004, p. 3)
  Supervision is a distinct professional activity
  In which education and training aimed at developing science-informed practice are facilitated through
  A collaborative interpersonal process
  It involves observation, evaluation, feedback, facilitation of supervisee self-assessment, and acquisition of knowledge and skills by instruction, modeling, and mutual problem-solving.
  Building on the recognition of the strengths and talents of the supervisee, supervision encourages self-efficacy.
  Supervision ensures that clinical (supervision) is conducted in a competent manner in which ethical standards, legal prescriptions, and professional practices are used to promote and protect the welfare of the client, the profession, and society at large.

  PILLARS (F & S, 2004)
  Supervisory relationship
  Foundation for alliance shared by supervisor and supervisee
  Inquiry
  Processes facilitating understanding of therapeutic process AND awareness of professional and personal contributions
